

Deutsche Post

Company Deutsche Post AG (DPAG)

Division MAIL

Headquarters Bonn, Germany

Profile Deutsche Post, Germany's only universal provider of postal services, is part of the world's largest logistics group, Deutsche Post DHL. Deutsche Post delivers mail and parcel in Germany and the world. It is an expert provider of dialogue marketing and press distribution services as well as corporate communications solutions. With its electronic letter called E-Postbrief individuals, businesses and government agencies can communicate with each other legally binding, confidential and reliable in the electronic world. Deutsche Post operates a nationwide drop-off, transport and delivery network in Germany. The division MAIL generated revenue of nearly 14 billion euros in 2011. With some 180,000 employees, Deutsche Post employs a major share of the group's workforce of about 470,000 people and helps make Deutsche Post DHL one of the biggest employers worldwide.

Services National and international mail, parcel and information services

Development From a government-controlled, deficit-ridden national agency, Deutsche Bundespost (1990), to a profitable European mail and parcel service provider, Deutsche Post DHL became the global logistics market leader with the division MAIL as a strong pillar.

Employees around 180,000

Outlets around 13,000 postal retail outlets and 7,000 points of sale

As of: 03/2012