

Cooperation partner

SAP

The company:

- With revenue exceeding EUR ten billion and branches in over 50 countries, SAP is the third-largest independent software provider in the world.
- SAP applications are used by more than 97,000 customers in over 120 countries.

The cooperation:

- Linking the “E-Postbrief” to the SAP HCM human resources management software serves to electronically provide pay slips without media breaks and without having to send hybrid letters.
- In the context of services for public administration, the “E-Postbrief” makes a significant contribution to simplifying electronic communication between administrations and citizens/companies. To do so, application scenarios are checked with customers, e.g., authentication when accessing the portals of community administrations and the process of sending and receiving official information such as notifications of charges and trade registrations in a legally binding manner.

Statements:

- “As the market leader for corporate software, SAP sees the launch of the ‘E-Postbrief’ as an important step en route to providing companies and authorities with consistent business processes by making available electronic correspondence with legal security. In an initial use case, SAP supports this project by means of an interface which enables companies that use SAP for their payroll to create pay slips from within SAP and send them directly via ‘E-Postbrief’. In this way, large volumes of letters that are traditionally printed and transported at present will be migrated to the digital world.” Kerstin Geiger, Head of Industry Solutions at SAP AG.
